Top 5 Films every student needs to watch

SEPTEMBER 8, 2021 (HTTPS://WWW.MAJORITY.CO.UK/2021/09/08/)

Freshers week is just around the corner, so what better way to embrace university life than by bingeing on the best student films around?

Whether Home Alone takes you back to being 6 years old or Life of Pi gives you the motivation you need to drive through whatever life has thrown at you this week, movies hold more nostalgia than almost any other part of the entertainment industry.

Be it comedy, biopic, or drama, Hollywood loves a university-centered film. As one of the biggest rites of passage, the student years have been a focus both directly and as a secondary plot point for many of the films for decades. From the crisis of choosing where you want to study to conceiving business ideas that shape pop culture, university-centered movies, have a long history of inspiring students to not only aspire to greatness but recognize themselves and their journeys on screen. With Fresher's Week peaking through the rear-view mirror, we've selected our top picks of motivating films for students, past, and present to watch...

Good Will Hunting

Good Will Hunting (1997) Image: IMDB

Will Hunting (Matt Damon) has a genius-level IQ working as a janitor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). When he solves a difficult graduate-level math problem, his talents are discovered by Professor Gerald Lambeau (Stellan Skarsgård). When Will is arrested for attacking a police officer, Professor Lambeau makes a deal to get leniency for him if he will get treatment from therapist Sean Maguire (Robin Williams).

Dead Poets Society

English teacher, John Keating (Robin Williams) is introduced to an all-boys predatory school known for its ancient traditions and high standards. He uses unorthodox methods to reach out to his students, who face enormous pressures from their parents and the school. With Keating's help, the students learn to break out of their shells, pursue their dreams and seize the day.
